FRANK CALFEE DIED IN MEXICO LAST NIGHT

Frank Calfee, well known over Southern New Mexico, died at ten o'- clock last night, a message from Mexico City to John W. Poe bringing the sad news this morning. The message further stated that the body would be brought back, but it is not known if it will be brought to El Paso or to Roswell. Edgar Calfee, brother of the deceased, left this morning for El Paso, going to meet his brother in answer to a message stating that he had suffered a stroke of paralysis on Wednesday night and was being brought to El Paso. Edgar Calfee will be notified of the death on today's train and is expected to return to Roswell tonight to await specific news as to the time and place of the funeral.

Frank Calfee was brought to Roswell with his brother, Edgar, when they were small boys, their mother having moved from Arkansas to Las Vegas and after a short stay at Las Vegas to Roswell. They reached this place in 1879 or 1880 and have resided here since that time. Five years ago Frank Calfee moved to Three Rivers, between Tularosa and Carrizozo, but still has business interests here.
At one time he was in business here and at Hagerman with Harry Jaffa and was formerly a director of the Citizens National Bank. He leaves a mother, Mrs. Milo Pierce, of this city, a half brother, Milo Pierce, Jr., a cadet at the Military Institute, his brother, Edgar, a wife, Adele May Calfee, and two little daughters, who make their home with their grand-mother, Mrs. Pierce, to take advantage of the Roswell schools.

The deceased was a man of the highest type. He was a kind and loving husband and father, a sound busi-has undoubtedly rendered the crimes less frequent, and also less profitable. It is notoriously difficult to secure convictions in peonage cases, owing to the antecedents and surroundings of strong local sympathy for the defendants. He reports, however, that through the determination of the department the frequency of these offenses has diminished materially, although they are still by no means unknown. "The land fraud cases," he says, "have forcibly illustrated the unfortunate consequences of administrative laxity and toleration of abuses in the enforcement of any laws during a considerable length of time."

"The number and gravity of offenses against the national banking laws by officers or employees of national banks constitute matters of reasonable solicitude and regret," he states.
"The moral culpability involved in such offenses seems often to be imperfectly appreciated and, although they usually excite great indignation and provoke loud complaints from the sufferers when they are first discovered, so much time is frequently lost in the preparation for trial and actual trial of these long and complicated cases that the crime itself has faded from public memory when the criminal is at last convicted, and there is need of vigilance lest he finally escape with wholly insufficient punishment."

In his opinion as a matter of justice no good reason exists why a warrant of arrest issued by any court of the United States should not be directly executed in any part of the United States. He asserts that it has been found that certain districts constitute

Mr. Calfee's death occurred while
